Our Approach

Our unique approach to planning beautifully detailed and stylish celebrations of marriage is what sets our team apart from the rest. We believe that your wedding day should tell a story. A story that speaks to the heart of who you are as a couple and the love you share. In one word, we call our weddings intentional.

We believe that beautiful things have value because they make our world and days a bit more romantic, but we don't just create pretty things because we can. We take the time to sit down, enjoy a cup of coffee (or a fabulous cocktail!) with you and get to know you! We want to know all about your story together; how did you meet, how did he pop the question, your style and how you want your guests to feel on the day of your wedding.

Our intentional based approach to wedding planning ensures a flawless and unique experience for you and your guests. We will be there for you through every step of the planning and design process so you can be focusing on what matters most: planning for a great marriage.

FULL PLANNING

starting at £6,000.00

Bluebird Creative provides a professional, style led and personal wedding planning service. From a complimentary consultation where we discuss your dream wedding, onto the design and planning process where we guide you through the big decisions. We will liaise with suppliers on your behalf, recommending some truly fabulous ones from our little blue book- ensuring we only recommend those that we feel fit your brief and requirements. We will help with budget management, negotiate contracts and will offer support throughout the whole planning process. We will establish an itinerary for the wedding weekend to help keep you on track. We will be there with unlimited advice through phone and email, coordinate the rehearsal and oversee every detail of the ceremony and reception.
